Settle the Question Here, Boys.

Someone has been foolish enough to lead the Driftwood B. B. club into believing they can play base ball. About all we can say to their ability on the diamond is that they are possessed of a yap as big as the opening of a subway. However that they may be convinced as to their inability as base ball players; and accepting the challenge they threw down through the Pennsylvania Grit, will say Johnsonuurg will play them on neutral ground, for $50 or $500, or any part thereof, as the case may be and to suit the capricies of the Driftwood bawlers. — Johnsonburg Press.

We believe the Emporium nine will then contract to defeat the winners.

To Witness a Grand Sight.

Mr. Fred Julian went to New York city on Monday on business. From there he goes to Portsmouth, N. H., to superintend the blasting of a large area of rock at that harbor. The gelatine was manufactured by Emporium Powder Company, part of it since the explosion of their dynamite plant.

The Great American Game.

The several base ball games at Keystone Park were well attended and increased interest manifested.

SATURDAY'S GAME.

The St. Marys base ball team came to Emporium last Saturday and were defeated by the score of 11 to 1. While the score was rather one sided, the game was full of good ball playing. Most all of the runs made by Emporium were earned by good clean hitting, when hits counted runs. St. Marys did not score until the ninth inning, after two men had died and a runner on second base, when the next man up hit into right field, bringing in their only run. The features of the game was a double play by Eschbaugh to Farrell, and the batting by Cummings, who out of four times up, had two two base hits and one three bagger and a single. That's going some. Overturf had the boys at his mercy all the way and received gilt edge support. Mumford also was much in evidence behind the bat.

TUESDAY'S GAME.

The Emporium nine added another victory to their list on Tuesday by defeating the Port Allegany team 5 to 3. The game was a most interesting one, on account of Port Allegany being two runs to the good at one time, but our team pulled themselves together and steadily gained until they landed the game. It looked rather bad in Port Allegany's half of the ninth with a runner on first and second, with no body out, but one run was the best they could do. The battery for Emporium was Verner and Mumford.

Struck by Train.

A Pole named Joe Sweet, employed at the Coal Mines was struck by the Erie Flyer, No. 4, at Cameron station, at 11:48 Saturday night. The man had been at the Valley House until it had closed for the night and then started for his boarding house at the Coke Ovens, and evidently stepped on the wrong track. His left arm and right leg was terribly mangled, besides he had numerous cuts and bruises all over his body. He was found insensible along the track by engineman Fetter, whose train was the first one east after No. 4. Mr. Fetter notified operator Shingledecker and Foreman Robinson who had the man brought to the station platform, where he regained consciousness and said he was from Byrne, Pa., where he has a wife and four small children. The railroad officials at Renovo removed him to the hospital at Williamsport on train No. 14.

When train No. 14 was pulling out from Cameron station a young man named John McCarthy attempted to get on the rear end of the train and was thrown against the trucks with such force that his clothing became entangled in the wheels and nearly torn off his body. His shoulder was dislocated and he was bably bruised. However, he was able to walk to his home.

Fatal Dose.

Theodore Gillson, who took the dose of Chloride of Mercury, died at City Hall last Saturday morning. Poor Master J. W. Kriner took charge of the case and shipped his remains to Corry. None of the unfortunate man's relatives, who were notified of the incident, came to see him. One more unfortunate slave to drug and liquor passed away, unwept and unmourned.

Challenge to Ball Players.

The Emporium Base Ball Association hereby challenges either the Driftwood or Johnsonburg teams, for $100 or $200, the grounds and umpire to be mutually agreed upon. None but home players to be put in line-up Either team violating the contract to forfeit the money

DEATH'S DOINGS.

ALDEN.

The funeral of George S. Alden, who was killed at Gardeau, Sunday night, July 9th, took place last Wednesday morning, from the family residence at Gardeau, Rev. J. E. Veach, of Roulette, officiating. Interment took place at Sizerville. The funeral was largely attended. In addition to the immediate family, the following relatives attended the funeral: Mr. Scott Alden, (father), W. B. Alden, (uncle), Howard, N. Y.

CREIGHTON.

The funeral of CORNELIUS CREIGHTON, aged 32 years, who died suddenly at Cook House, last week Tuesday night, took place from the residence of Dennis Donovon last Friday morning —Mrs. Donovon's father being uncle of deceased. The large attendance of relatives and friends accompanied the remains to St. Mark's Catholic church where Requium High Mass was said for the dead.

The following relatives from out of town were present at the funeral: Thomas, James and Joseph (brothers), Buffalo; Mrs. Maggie O'Harah (sister,) Bradford; Mrs. Mary McGloin, Ridgway; Mr. and Mrs. Susie Meagher, and son Maurice and wife, Mrs. Maud Burden, St. Marys; Mrs. James Creighton and son John, Bradford; Mrs. Jas. Gallagher and sons John and Patrick, Bradford; Cornelius Creighton and sons John and Patrick, Bradford; Cornelius Creighton, and sons John and Jay, Cameron; Mrs. P. J. Cooney and son Neil, Renovo; John Hayes and sister Mary, Renovo; Luke Creighton, Ridgway. The Creighton family came to Cameron county in the early sixties and have many friends here, yet most of the family of deceased had left here. They certainly did honor the dead boy, being a very sypathetic family.

Large Timber Cut on Medix Run.

From the scale as shown us by Mr. Dixon, of the lumbering firm of Taylor & Dixon, operating on Medix Run, we take the following as accomplished by Mr. Alex Wallace, of Goshen township and four assistants. In five hours time they cut down, cut in board lengths, and peeled three trees which made 18 logs. The first tree cut 6 logs which scaled 2828 feet, the second cut 6 logs scaling 5078 feet and the third cut 6 logs scaling 5697 feet, making a grand total scale of the three trees 12,603 feet. The trees stood within ten feet of each other and were of the pure hemlock variety. Mr. Wallace is one of the oldest lumbermen in Clearfield county and challenges any other crew of five men to produce like results in the same length of time.—Clearfield Journal.

Midsummer Comfort.

Those who have found the Summer vacation problem a difficult one, from the standpoint of economy, will find some practical suggestions in the chapter on "Cooperative Housekeeping at the Seashore" by Isabel Gordon Curtis, in the August Delineator. The matter is gone into detail, and facts and figures demonstrate the advantages of the scheme. Other features of the magazine, which appeal particularly during hot weather, art "Cold Tit Bits for Hot Days," pictured and described, and a variety of seasonable recipes in cookery under the titles, "A Dozen Fresh Fruit Pies," "Tartlets," and "Iced Deliciousness." Summer fashions and reading complete the number, which is unusually interesting and attractive.

Just From Philippines.

Edward W. Eschbach, of Baltimore, Md., who is spending the summer months in Emporium, visiting his sister, Mrs. H. C. Kenley, has joined the Emporium base ball association. Mr. Eschbach has recently returned from the Philippines, having served Uncle Sam for over three years. He is a good ball player and a creditable acquisition to the club.

War in Italy.

A number of Italians filled full of bad whiskey engaged in a free for all fight last Sunday night, near the freight depot, in which one was badly cut on left cheek and right hand. They resumed the fight Tuesday morning, when Policeman Mundy arrested the gang and took them before Esquire Larrabee.

Automobile Stables.

Mr. John Repetto, of Williamsport, has rented the City Hotel barn and intends to maintain a first-class line of automobiles for the accommodation of the public. He now has one large car and experienced operator.

The Observer.

According to Mr. Wilson L. Gill of the Franklin Institute, one defect of our system of public education is that school government and discipline rest upon a monarchical, rather than a democratic basis; in consequence of which condition the training of the pupils fits them rather for subjects of an autocracy than for citzenship of a free republic.

Imbued with this conviction, Mr. Gill looked about for some practical plan by which the school might be made to fiulfill its chief function in a republic, that of developing in the child a fine civic conscience and making him familiar with political duties. The plan which he evolved is the School City. "Every school that adopts this method receives a charter from the board of education, and thenceforth the children govern, aided from time to time by the snmpathetic suggestions of the teacher. Under this charter they form a complete city government, each room correspouding to a ward, the government of the whole being administered by a mayor, board of councilmen, judges, policemen and other officials, all elected for a term of ten weeks by the free and full franchise of all the pupils of the School City." A manuol recently issued by the Board of Public Education of Philadelphia says:

"The duties of citizenship are so simple, easy, few and far between where citizens in general are faithful, that statesmen and scholars have failed to recognize that the habit of performing the few duties of citizenship is an art, and must be learned as other practical arts, by a long apprenticeship under competent instruction. Conducted with the right spirit, this is both simple and easy and a joy to all concerned, but the right habits of life cannot be formed except by long practice."

The first School City was authorized by the Philadelphia Board of Education in 1898, and so successful did the experiment prove that in 1903 the Board authorized its introduction into all schools applying for the privilege, and thirty schools availed themselves of it before June, 1903. The experiment has also been successfully tried in other parts of the country. General Wood employed Mr. Gill to introduce his method into the public school system of Cuba. The success there is said to be pronounced, "proving that the child mind, even when it has had no educational advantages, is quick to catch the high, fine enthusiasm of the teacher and soon takes pride in the government and discipline of the school in which it is a part of the responsible government."

"President Roosevelt, in a letter to Mr. Justice of Germantown, heartily commends the School City plan. "Nothing," he says, "could offer higher promise for the future of our country than an intelligent interest in the best ideals of citizenship, its privileges and duties among the students of our common schools."

American rule in the Philippine Islands is really the School City plan on a large scale The Filipinos as yet are but children, untaught in the arts of self government. Left to themselves they would speedily fall prey to anarchy and despotism. The policy of our government is so to protect and guide them that in course of time they will have become habituated to self-government and able to administer their local affairs without external guidance or intervention.

Yet why should we take such pains with the political training of the Filipinos, while we take no thought for the development of the civic spirit and the civic habit in our future citizens at home?

Improves With Age.

While all members of Emporium ball team play good ball and receive the applause of our citizens, it is especially gratifying to us old timers to note how admirably Eugene Mumford and Jas. Farrell, old-time players, hold up their reputation and play just as good as they did twenty years ago. They seem to improve with age.

County Auditor Butler Rusticating

Charles L. Butler stole a march on his friends last Saturday and left for parts unknown. Some say he went to Atlantic city, while others think he went to the woods with Senator Durham. However he is taking a much needed rest and we hope he will come back feeling like a fighting cock.

P. R. R. Pic-Nic.

The P. & E. R. R., shop pic-nic was held at Tunnel Hill Park yesterday. A large number of Emporiumites took in the occasion.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

Jos. Newton has oponed a fruit store in Fetter Block.

There will be an ice cream social held at Howard Siding, Saturday evening, July 22. The public cordially invited to attend.

Certainly you ought to give the wife some money, says an exchange. She is not a chattle slave by any means and you do not deserve to be classed among men if you use her as such. She is entitled to "pin money" as much as you are entitled to your cigars, tobacco and whisky.

In addition to a letter expressive of appreciation of the aid and succor given to the injured, and care bestowed upon the dead in the South Harrisburg wreck of May 11th by the people of Harrisburg, the Pennsylvania Railroad company has donated $10,000 to the Harrisburg hospital. The donation was given to the hospital without any restrictions as to its use, that being left entirely to its board of managers, and was accompanied with a letter from W. W. Atterbury, general manager, telling of the deep gratitude of the company.

That Shippen Road.

Mr. Chas. B. Powers, one of the bidders on the proposed state road in Shippen, favors the PRESS with a copy of the several bids filed at Harrisburg, viz:

Highway Improvement Co., Phila,	$5,214.00
John McMenamy, Phila.,	4,457.00
Fullerton & Co., Ridgway,	5,153.45
Chas. B. Powers, Emporim,	4,825.00
T. F. Moore, Emporium,	4,287.0

The last three bids being incomplete are thrown out. From what we can learn of the situation it does not look favorable for the building of the road. Mr. Moore being the lowest bidder should be allowed to detail his bid.

Our Jail Full.

Dan'l McFadden and Chas. Van Ormer, of Cameron, were arrested at Lock Haven on Monday by R. R. Detective Geo. W. Vernes and committed to jail by Esquire Larrabee on the charge of stealing 95 pounds of brass from Hyde & Doutt's junk house at Cameron. This means a good term at Allegany. Sheriff Hemphill now sports nine prisoners, one being a girl fifteen years of age, confined for stealing a dress.

FIRE AT CAMERON.

About 10:15 last night the lumber yard of the Cameron Lumber Company at Cameron, was discovered to be on fire, which destroyed most of the lumber. Mr. Bert Dunlevie was in Emporium when the fire broke out and went east on Erie mail. He telegraphed to Renovo for the fire engine, which soon responded to the call. We have not learned the amount of the loss.

New Powder Company.

The Sinnamahoning Powder Manufactnring Company with a capital of $100,000, was organized at this place last Saturday—the charter notice appearing in this issue of PRESS. The new company have purchased a large tract of land on Grove Run, above the old camp-meeting grounds, and contemplate erecting a large plant.

Found.

A sum of money was found this morning by Percy Nangle, Henry and Charles Cummings, three honest little fellows, who immediately brought it to this office. Owner can have same by proving property and paying for this notice.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, July 18th, 1905.

Editor Press:—

The railroads of the country apparently believe that they have defeated the President in his campaign for railway rate legislation. At least they have recently sent out confidential statements from the press bureau which they maintain to oppose railway rate legislation, saying that the President has been convinced of the error of his ways and that the effort to secure legislation for the protection of shippers and consumers will not be seriously pressed at the next session of Congress.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. The President is just as much in earnest as he ever was. He will present in his next message to Congress the strongest possible argument in favor of delegating to the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to fix rates wherever the existing schedules are found, on examination, to be unjust, the rates fixed by the commission to take effect immediately and to go into effect within from thirty to sixty days and to remain in force until and unless set aside by the courts. The great effort of the railways will be to prevent any rate set by the Interstate Commerce Commission from going into effect until approved by the courts. This would mean, of course, that the wealthy railroads would keep every contest in the courts for years, taking appeal after appeal, until the unfortunate shipper who had made the complaint was exhausted, financially ruined, or dead.

With the law abvocated by the President once on the statutes it is probable that there would be comparatively few instances in which Interstate Commerce Commission would feel it necessary to fix rates for the reason that the railroads themselves, knowing that such a power existed, would take care to make reasonable and just rates. There might be numerous complaints to the Commission but there would probably be few instances where the Commission would find it necessary to exercise its rate making power. The railroads appreciate all this full well, and dread the day when they may be compelled to make just rates in order to avoid the changing of their schedules by the Commission.

Under the strong impetus given it by the President, the investigation of the Department of Agriculture's bureau of statistics is moving right along. The President has taken the whole matter out of the hands of Secretary Wilson and has confided it to the Department of Justice, and Solicitor General Hoyt and District Attorney Beach are pushing the investigation as rapidly as circumstances will permit. It is generally believed that John Hyde, chief Statistican of the Bureau, will be asked to resign when the investigation is concluded. It is not shown that Mr. Hyde was guilty of anything in the least savoring of dishonesty but it is claimed that he has manifested serious incompetence and a grave lack of administrative ability and that the investigation will show that he is not up to the heavy responsibilities which must necessarily devolve on the Chief Statistician, the most important of which is the capacity to judge men.

Cocoanuts, being lighter than water, are transported along waterways in the same manner that timber is floated. Thousands of them are thrown together and the whole mass surrounded by long strands of bark fiber. One native can tow a number of such rafts, and the fiber is tough enough to stand considerable rough treatment.

In a train wreck on the Missouri Pacific railway every car except one went into the ditch at the side of the track, but not a person on the train was seriously injured. The train was running at 25 miles an hour, yet not a car was damaged by the sudden stopping. The cars were new and heavy and of firm steel framework.

Sea water as a medicinal beverage, to reduce obesity, is becoming a fad among many women spending the summer in resorts along the New Jersey coast. The business of supplying the water has grown into quite an enterprise by fishermen. Three or four glasses a day are said to have a beneficial effect upon the digestion as well as a tendency to purify the blood and reduce the flesh.

Geological conditions remarkably like those observed at the Kimberly mines in South Africa have recently been discovered in Kentucky. The Piedmont Plateau, at the southeastern base of the Appalachians, has already produced, in the region between Southern Virginia and Georgia, some 10 or 12 diamonds, which have varied in weight from those of two or three carats to the "Dewey" diamond, which when found weighed over 23 carats.

It is gratifying to note that the commission intrusted with the distribution of the awards provided by the Carnegie hero fund have not confined their benefactions to the giving of medals, but have granted substantial sums of money to a number of worthy and deserving persons—the widows, in most instances, of men who have lost their lives in heroic service to humanity. The distribution of bronze and silver medals does not serve the purposes nor further the objects for which this hero fund was primarily created.

What is supposed to be the largest pair of shoes ever made in this country was turned out recently in a Nashua shoe factory. The size of these shoes may well be imagined when it is known that the weight is 18 pounds for the pair. Each shoe is 23 inches long and 7½ inches wide in the widest place. Every detail is as carefully attended to as in an ordinary first-class shoe, but because of the enormous size it required several weeks to turn them out. They were made for a negress who lives near Atlanta.

There are many ways of getting a living in New York City, but the most amazing of them all was partly unfolded in the Tombs court recently when it was alleged there was a regular established business for "losing babies" there, the headquarters of the gang being somewhere on Mott street. For a long time the managers of children's societies have been convinced that the "losing" of babies has been conducted systematically. For many months they have found too much system in the abandonment of babies not to believe there was a regular trade in it.

There is comforting assurance of the magnitude of the 1905 crop of wheat coming from the statistics of the agricultural department, additional evidence of the fact that the farmer remains the real king and that this is a land of plenty and of promise, with the promise fulfilled. The crop of 1905, with the exception of the crop of 1901, will be the largest ever harvested in the United States, the estimate being a total of spring and winter wheat of 729,000,000 bushels, the crop of 1901 having been 748,000,000 bushels.

If one-half that is claimed for the new German paint is true, the white-lead base of paints so universally used is doomed. The new pigment is obtained from a burnt limestone which contains a considerable proportion, 20 per cent. or more, of magnesia, the best combination being that found naturally in dolomitic limestone. This is mixed with a hydrocarbon and fired until all the carbon is consumed. Among the desirable features claimed for the new paint are fineness and smoothness of surface, covering power, permanence and cheapness.

PARTY IS ALWAYS ADRIFT.

Instability of the Democracy Costs It the Support of Able Agencies.

One swallow does not make a summer, and neither does the desertion of the democratic party by some of its greatest newspaper organs indicate its dissolution to the point of immediate disappearance, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Two such desertions have taken place within the past year, however, which, because of a wide variance of opinion in the two seceding journals, on the factional issue dividing that party, indicate unmistakably how far that organization has drifted from any safe and sure anchorage. Immediately following the action of Judge Parker in accepting the edmocratic nomination for the presidency on a platform which he had repudiated, the Chicago Chronicle, one of the ablest and most honest of democratic party organs, announced that, the party having ceased to stand for anything definite or positive, and to have any convictions touching any point in controversy and offering no assurance to any of its supporters of what they could or might expect in the event of its success, the Chronicle would not consent to support it, but would, in the future, act with and for the republican party.

Since that announcement the Chronicle has been consistent in the performance of its promises. Its change of party allegiance was decried at the time, and since, as being inspired by devotion to the single gold standard, for which that paper, while still retaining its democratic party connection, had stood in the two preceding campaigns. Its defection was denounced as "goldbuggery," but such a denunciation could deceive but few, if any, in the light of the palpable straddling the democracy was attempting. The result of the poll showed how close to the line of thinking by many thousands of democrats the Chronicle had shaped its course. Disaffection was as marked in one factions camp as in the other. Everywhere, it seemed, democrats had reached the conclusion that in voting for such an organization they would be voting for uncertainty, hesitation, doubt, weakness, delay and every form of public calamity to be invited by bad government.

That the breaking up of the party was not on factional lines the announcement made some months ago that the Cincinnati Enquirer, for years the organ of the quantitiative money theory, without reference to the quality of the quantity, must no longer be considered a democratic party organ, was strikingly in evidence. The Enquirer, too, had become convinced that the party, as now constituted, cannot be relied upon for the carrying out of any policy in government. The resignation of John R. McLean, the owner of the Enquirer, as a member of the national democratic committee was sent to the Ohio state democratic convention. It is followed by an announcement that the Enquirer will soon declare its formal adhesion to the republican party. Whether this is done or not, its desertion of the democratic pary may be immortal, but just now it looks much like Dr. Holmes' immortal one-hoss shay on the morning when it went to pieces:

"All at once, and nothing first,
Just as bubbles do when they burst."

Policy of Wisdom.

It has never been argued that in all things the tariff would result in cheapening prices at home. If we desired to put our workingmen, wage earners, on the same basis as those with whom they come in competition in foreign countries this difference in prices might easily be overcome. But the country has repeatedly decided that it is best to keep the wage earners prosperous, that it is wiser to make it necessary that they pay higher prices than those for which foreigners might furnish the goods, if thereby they were given opportunity to earn the money with which to buy. There is no profit in having the necessities of life for sale at a low figure, if business is slack and men cannot get the price.—Portland (Me.) Express.

The Right Remedy.

The American protective system has won because it has stimulated invention and domestic competition and thus helped workers and capitalists. When so perverted as to help capitalists and to bunco consumers, the remedy is not to upset a system that has enriched our people, but to remedy its perversion under trust conspiracies. It is important that we recall the great panic we had in American industry under "tariff reform" in 1893-1896. A short memory in this exigency will imperil our economic prosperity. Free-traders would be too glad to divert attention from trust legislation to free-trade. But the American people are not likely to bite cheese on such a trap.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

☞It is the party of protection that has made this country what it is, and the protectionists can afford to wait. A demonstration is all that is needed to show that America cannot prosper by purchasing abroad with the romantic hope of selling abroad.—American Economist.

☞In exercising his advisory powers with the Equitable, we wonder if Mr. Cleveland would accept Mr. Bryan as a good risk?—Washington Post.

☞Mr. Bryan recently had occasion to assure a correspondent that the masses who constitute the bone and sinew of the democratic party would not again permit a retreat from the high ground of 1896 and 1900, and incidentally he remarked that his paper was offering club rates for subscription of four or more. Thus we see that Mr. Bryan has developed shrewd business instincts, even though he is still a reformer.—Buffalo Express.

TRADE CONDITIONS SOUND

Industry at Home and Trade Abroad Indicate the Continuance of Prosperity.

A bit of good news comes from the Pittsburg district, one of the greatest centers of the steel and iron business not only of the United States, but of the whole world. It is to the effect, states the Troy Times, that there will not be the customary summer shutdown and that operations will continue unbroken and with a full force of employes. It has been usual to discontinue work in the steel mills for a month or two at this season and that programme has been regarded by wage earners as quite the regular proceeding. With work going on the advantage in the way of additional income will be readily apparent. There will be no closing of the establishments even for repairs, as whatever is necessary to be done in that line will be looked after as well as possible with work at full blast.

Additional significance is given to this statement because wages in the steel industries have been kept to a high level, and in very many instances have been considerably increased of late. Thus it appears that the relations between the employers and their men are of the most amicable sort, and that good feeling and satisfaction exist on both sides. The situation is assurance of continued prosperity and enlarging activity. The mills are kept busy and the men are getting good pay because there is a great demand for iron and steel. This demand, of course, is largest at home, but it is not confined to the United States. On the contrary, as the official figures show, we are exporting more manufactures than ever before, and iron and steel articles form a great and increasing proportion of them.

At the same time, there are many crude products which American mills cannot turn out in proportions sufficient to meet all home demands, and these have to be procured from abroad. This helps to account for the large imports of steel billets and also of other articles which are necessary in order to supply domestic requirements. The work of transforming these into finished American products gives employment to thousands of persons at American wages, and so there is a direct benefit to the mass of handicraftsmen, most of them skilled in their calling. Looked at in this light there is no cause for alarm at the big imports, which for the 11 months of the fiscal year ended with May amounted to $1,027,000,000, the largest in our history and $18,000,000 more than the imports for the same period last year. Exports were also large, the total for the 11 months mentioned having been $1,397,000,000, against $1,367,000,000 in 1904.

Industry at home and our trade abroad both stand on the soundest footing, with everything to indicate that present conditions are likely to be maintained indefinitely. The steel business continues to be a reasonably accurate barometer, and it points to fair weather.

SEVERAL TARIFF TRUTHS.

Facts Which Show That Protection Is the Foundation of Prosperity.

Every once in awhile we are compelled to listen to the lugubrious wailing of some unhappy mortal, generally a seeker after leadership in some organization with socialistic tendencies, that the high tariff not only tends to increase the cost of living to the poor man and farmer, but actually brings about that undesirable result, and he reenforces his contention and clinches his argument with some alleged statistics showing that the cost of living is anywhere from 25 to 50 per cent. greater than it would be if the tariff schedules were revised in a more or less radical manner. It is true that the cost of living is greater now than it was during the period from 1890 to 1899, but a careful analysis of the figures fails to show that the tariff has much to do with it, says the Wheeling Telegraph. Taking the prices of the ten-year period from 1890 to 1899 as 100, we find that in 1904 the increase in farm products are represented by the figures 126.2, food 107.2, cloths and clothing 109.8, fuel and lighting 132.6, metals and implements 109.6, lumber and building materials 122.7, drugs and chemicals 110 and miscellaneous articles 111.7. It will be noted that the highest increase, that in fuel and lighting, is upon necessities with which the tariff has practically nothing to do. The next greatest increase is in products of the farm, where the tariff cuts very little figure indeed, while metals and implements, where we would naturally expect the greatest increase, if the cry of the anti-tariff howler was warranted, would be at the head of the list, whereas the truth is it is next to the bottom. Against this increase should be set the gain to the working classes in the larger opportunity afforded for employment, and it will be seen that the hue and cry against the tariff and even the trusts has very little of substantial basis. It should be realized that any blow struck at the prosperity of the wage workers and the farmer will hit the general progress of the country a hard knock. The figures here given are from the department of labor, and are official.

☞Ohio democracy seems to be permanently wedded to the ideas of Bryan, of Tom Johnson and of the socialistically inclined section of the party. The state convention was dominated by such influences, and the "conservatives" had no show whatever. This seems to exxplain why such ardent suporters of old-time democratic principles as John R. McLean and his Cincinnati Enquirer are abandoning the Bryanized party and coming out for the republican cause. Evidently they regard the democratic organization as hopelessly wrong-headed.—Troy Times.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PAINT.

Important Memorandum.—"A job complete, done by a good painter, with the best quality of paint, costing say $60.00 ($40.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last five years. The same paint applied by a dauber ($20.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last only two years. That the "per-year-cost" of the good painter's job is $12.00—the [illegible] painter's, $20.00

The oil! linseed oil! Just pure linseed is the "life"—the one great requisite of good paint for which there is no substitute—and the sure way to get the pure, fresh linseed oil is to buy the oil and separately. For every gallon of Kinloch Paint buy one gallon of linseed oil. This makes two gallons of paint, ready for use. You then know that the paint you're putting on your house is alive—"the genuine oil is in it," and paint is not paint unless it contains 50% of really pure oil. We will further explain the virtues of Kinloch Paint if you will call and see us.

HANGED BUNCH OF RIOTERS

Twenty-four Leaders of the Uprising at Odessa Were Executed in Various Prisons.

TREPOFF GETS MANY WARNINGS

The "Worst Hated Man in Russia" Is Told in Letters that He Will be Assassinated — Terrorists Planned to Blow Up Czar's Palace.

Odessa, July 14.—Twenty-four leaders of the recent disturbances here were hanged yesterday in various prisons. Another batch of 17 will be publicly executed upon the arrival here of Gen. Ignatieff.

The battleship Georgi Pobiedonostetz has arrived here with a fresh crew for the purpose of taking 67 mutineers to Sevastopol for trial by court-martial.

Of 202 persons arrested and charged with robbery or incendiarism in connection with the recent riots here, 74 were acquitted owing to lack of evidence and 28 were sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment, the time to include the two weeks which they have already passed in prison. The extraordinary outcome of these trials has aroused much comment. It is openly asserted that it is a political demonstration against the military government and furnishes evidence of the conflict going on between the municipality and the government, as the judges are elected by the people.

St. Petersburg, July 14.—The assassin of Prefect of Police Shuvaloff, of Moscow, has been identified as a former school teacher of St. Petersburg named Rulikovsky, who was actively connected with the political agitation and is believed to have belonged to the terrorist organization.

After the prisoner's escape from the police station where he had been confined as a political suspect some days previous to the assassination of the prefect, Shuvaloff set all the police of Moscow at work to effect his recapture. The prisoner in the meantime shaved off his beard and while the police were searching for him everywhere the man went to the prefect's office and committed the crime for which he will now be tried. The bullets of the revolver used by the prisoner were filled with poison. The crowd in the ante-room of the prefecture set upon the assassin, who was dragged into the street and terribly beaten.

The resignation of M. Bouligin as minister of the interior is expected daily. Gen. Trepoff, the assistant minister of the interior, will probably be his successor.

The terrorists have recently renewed their warnings against Gen. Trepoff with ominous persistence. The general is constantly in receipt of letters signed by the executive committee of the fighting organization informing him that his hour has come. A remarkable feature of all the communications is that the writers say that no safeguards will avail to avert his impending doom. At the same time they tell him he need not be afraid to go abroad in the streets. They add:

"Your sentence will be executed in your own room. You will die in your bed."

The police have discovered elaborate preparations for blowing up the castle of Ilinskoje, near Moscow, where the czar with the imperial family intended to take up a brief residence. Beneath the apartments destined for his majesty's use a subterranean passage is said to have been found leading to a cellar where 250 pounds of dynamite lay concealed. The police have made many arrests.

A Destructive Tornado.

Fairfax, S. D., July 14.—One person was killed and 14 injured, two probably fatally, by a tornado which swept a portion of the Rosebud reservation yesterday. At least three small towns were struck by the storm. Roy McFadden was killed near St. Elmo. Eight persons were injured at Herrick and several buildings destroyed. At Burke six people were injured, including James Jensen, his wife and baby.

Witte Will be Chief Peacemaker.

St. Petersburg, July 14.—Emperor Nicholas has signed the appointment of M. Witte, president of the committee of ministers, to be chief plenipotentiary to represent the Russian government in the peace negotiations to be conducted in the United States. The appointment clothes M. Witte with plenary powers.

Eight Men Killed.

Oakland, Cal., July 14.—William Dwyer and seven Chinese were killed Thursday by an explosion at the Giant powder works, ten miles from here.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

Three People Killed and 16 Injured in a Collision of Passenger Trains.

Chicago, July 15.—A northbound passenger train on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railway collided yesterday with a suburban train at Steiger, Ill., 30 miles from Chicago. Three people were killed and 16 passengers were injured.

Some of the injured may die. The engines of both trains were demolished and the first coach on the suburban train was smashed. The dead:

James Lyke, engineer of suburban train.

George Epstein, Chicago.

Charles Horn, Crete, Ill.

The cause of the collision was an open switch which let the through train onto a siding on which the suburban train was standing.

That the switch which caused the wreck was opened by some one, either carelessly or with malicious intent, is the theory of the officials. Search is being made for a laborer at Steiger upon whom suspicion rests. The man disappeared soon after the wreck. A warrant has been sworn out for his arrest.

STRUCK A SNAG.

Trial of Justice Hooker Halts Because of an Editor's Refusal to Give Information.

Albany, N. Y., July 15.—Editor-in-Chief Ervin Wardman, of the New York Press, was the storm center Friday in the state legislature. His refusal to give the reasons for his expressed belief that members of the legislature had been the subject of improper influences in connection with the trial of the charges against Supreme Court Justice Warren B. Hooker produced intense excitement and the question of the disposal of his case has entirely overshadowed in interest here the charges against Justice Hooker. Incidentally the situation has raised far-reaching questions as to the status and powers of the present joint session.

This situation developed unexpectedly out of the desire of members of the legislature to learn who wrote an article in the Press of last Wednesday, in which it was asserted that both political pressure and "boodle" were being invoked in behalf of Justice Hooker to prevent his removal from office as a justice of the supreme court.

TRADE REVIEW.

Retail Business at Many Points Exceeds Expectations.

New York, July 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Seasonable merchandise goes into consumption more freely than usual, retail trade exceeding expectations at many points, and preparations for fall and winter business is on a liberal scale, except in a few agricultural communities where there is a disposition to await definite assurances regarding the crops. The official report was more encouraging as to grain.

Manufacturing reports are irregular, the cotton industry being unsettled by the rise in raw material; woolen mills have a similar, but less sensational obstacle; footwear shops are shipping less freely, but are maintaining the higher level of prices and current dullness in pig iron does not weaken confidence in an early resumption of liberal purchases.

Failures this week were 223 in the United States, against 225 last year, and 26 in Canada, compared with 20 a year ago.

A RACE WAR IN GOTHAM.

Whites and Blacks Fought for Hours Before the Police Quelled the Riot.

New York, July 15.—"San Juan Hill," the district bounded by Amsterdam and West End avenues and Sixty-first and Sixty-third streets, so-called because of its notoriety as a battleground, was the scene last night of a furious race riot which required 250 policemen to quell after many shots had been fired and several persons had been seriously injured.

The trouble began when a policeman arrested Edward Connolly for attacking Henry Williams, a negro, and was pursued to the station house with his prisoner by a mob of Connolly's friends hurling showers of stones. When the station house reserves turned out the whole neighborhood was in an uproar and, whites and blacks engaged in desperate struggles in the streets.

A Destructive Storm.

Detroit, Mich., July 15.—Hundreds of dollars' worth of windows were broken in this city yesterday by a terrific hail and rain storm. Several fires were caused by electric wires which were broken by the wind. Lightning struck a house at Oxford, Mich., and killed Miss Lizzie Dodds, a school teacher, of Toronto. Lightning also killed Douglass Hill at Shepherd, Mich.

A Fatal Explosion.

Charleston, W. Va., July 15.—Col. George W. Patton, a prominent lawyer, was fatally burned and Mont Saunders, an employe of the county clerk's office, was badly burned Friday by an explosion of gas in a vault at the county clerk's office.

Land Owners Yield to Peasants.

London, July 15.—The correspondent of the Standard at Odessa asserts that with a view to averting arson and murder the landed proprietors are conceding to the revolutionary peasants one-third of their crops and, in many instances, one-third of their live stock.

Three Trainmen Killed.

Marshalltown, Ia., July 15.—Three trainmen were killed and two more were probably fatally injured in a freight wreck on the Iowa Central railroad near Richland, Ia., Friday.

GOT MILLIONS IN REBATES.

A Stockholder in the Harvester Combine Makes Sensational Statements in a Lawsuit Against It.

Chicago, July 12.—Rodney B. Swift, formerly head of the experimental department of the McCormick branch of the International Harvester Co., yesterday filed a suit against the company demanding an accounting.

Swift's connection with the company was severed some months ago, and suit was commenced against him by the officials of the company, who alleged that he had defrauded them in the sale of a patent. In his bill filed yesterday Swift, as a stockholder, demands an accounting from the company, and demands that the court force the company to cease taking rebates from railroad companies, and also compel the company to return to the railroads moneys said by Swift to have been illegally extracted from the railroads in the past. Eleven railroads are also made parties to the suit.

Of the railroads made defendant in the suit two, the Chicago, West Pullman & Southern and the Illinois Northern are described in the bill filed by Swift as being the means by which tribute was exacted from the larger roads in favor of the Harvester company.

The two roads, Swift asserts, consist principally of switch tracks. Swift declares that up to September 30, 1902, the McCormick branch of the Harvester company alone forced the railroads to pay it, through rebates and the operations of the Illinois Northern road, a sum in excess of $3,000,000. Up to the same date, the money received in rebates by the Plano branch of the Harvester company through the agency of the Chicago, West Pullman & Southern railroad amounted to $500,000.

Since September 30, 1902, it is declared that all the other railway companies have been making payments of rebates to the International Harvester Co. under the guise of an alleged division of freight rates with the Illinois Northern Co.

It is further declared that the unlawful course of the directors of the corporation has damaged the Harvester company to the extent of $5,000,000, which amount Swift demands the directors repay to the company.

The injunction demanded by Swift asks that the court prevent purchase by the company of any manufacturing plants when the purpose of the purchase is in whole or in part the suppression of competition.

A NEW SPEED RECORD.

It Was Made by a Santa Fe Train During a Run from Los Angeles to Chicago.

Chicago, July 12.—With every car blackened by a record breaking run from Los Angeles to Chicago, the Walter Scott special on the Santa Fe railroad arrived here at 11:54 a. m. Tuesday, having beaten all previous records by hours, as well as bettering the special train's own schedule.

Consisting of a baggage car, diner and private living car, the train which left Los Angeles at 1 p. m. Sunday, came into the Polk street station almost at top speed, having made the run of 2,265 miles in 44 hours and 56 minutes. This is a trifle over 23 hours faster than the time of the regular Santa Fe limited; it is three hours and four minutes faster than the original contract called for (which was 48 hours) and beats even the later schedule of 45 hours by four minutes.

The best previous time for this run was made by the Peacock special in 1900 in a "race against death," but the record of this train by the performance consummated yesterday is beaten by seven hours and 55 minutes. Extraordinary time was made eastward from Dodge City, Kan., where the train arrived 35 minutes late. But a good roadbed, clear track and expert work by the engineer and fireman not only regained the lost time, but beat the closest and most hopeful calculation by four minutes.

SCORES OF LIVES LOST.

A Mine Disaster at Wattstown, Wales, Causes the death of 120 Men.

Cardiff, Wales, July 12.—An explosion of firedamp in No. 2 pit of the United National Colliery Co. at Wattstown, in the Rhonda valley, the center of the great Welsh coal fields, Tuesday morning, is believed to have resulted in the loss of 126 lives.

The explosion was followed immediately by the belching of clouds of smoke and dust from the pit shaft, in which 150 men were working. The force of the explosion wrecked the machinery at the mouth of the pit. All communication with the doomed men in this direction is completely cut off. No. 1 shaft adjoining, has ordinarily afforded communication with No. 2. The 800 men in No. 1 and the few who escaped from No. 2 were drawn up.

A rescue party descended, but its work was seriously impeded by the foul air and the falling masses of earth dislodged by the explosion.

Altogether 68 bodies have been recovered.

Heroic efforts were made for hours to reach the entombed men, but late last night the absence of all sound from the interior of the mine told the tale of the worst disaster that has taken place in South Wales since 1894.

Prosecutions are Expected.

Washington, July 12.—Secretary Wilson has turned over to the attorney general all the papers in connection with the cotton leak investigation. It is intimated that this is done with the expectaton that prosecution of the persons mentioned in the report of the secret service officers will follow.

Dowie Has Paid His Debts.

Chicago, July 12.—John Alexander Dowie yesterday had all bankruptcy proceedings against him dismissed in the United States district court by Judge Bethea.

AN UP-GROUND CELLAR.

Detailed Plans and Specifications for Building One of Them.

An up-ground cellar, properly constructed, will guard against frosts in winter and serve as a cool dairy house in summer. It avoids the toiling up and down steps of the underground cellar, and obviates the necessity for drainage in level countries where such would be impracticable.

The building blocks or square tiles used in this plan are 8x10x16 inches, and have an extra partition through the center, thus supplying two hollow or dead-air spaces in the outer wall. The excavation for cellar should be thrown out at least two feet in depth and filled with fragments of stone finely broken. After filling six or eight inches the outer wall should be laid up in good cement. Thus the hollow wall extends down below the frost line, and the frost will not cross in onto the floor.

After the tile walls are laid the required height, a row of studding is placed around the inside wall (see illustration). Back of these next to the wall is placed a lining of heavy, tarred paper. These studs are lathed and heavily plastered. Plates for rafters are placed upon top of wall, and joists for ceiling spiked to these plates. Undersides of joists are ceiled with matched flooring, a lining of heavy paper, and stripped with 2x2 lath, same way joints run. Lath and plaster are applied to these, making dead-air space between plaster and flooring. Tops of joists are floored with matched material, paper lined, making two dead-air spaces. Roof may be made of shingles or other material carefully fitted to exclude air currents, and gable doubleboarded, all being lined with tarred paper.

Next fill remainder of excavation with crushed stone and cement making a smooth floor level with doorstep. Make stone and cement very compact to avoid cracking. A chimney in one end is a good means of ventilation and gives opportunity for a stove in extremely cold weather.

A building similar to this with two double windows and one door, placed in corner for convenience, if built 14x16 feet and 10 feet from bottom of foundation to eaves, should cost not over $125 to $150. Below is a bill for a cellar 14x16x10 feet, including everything necessary: 660 building blocks; 4 barrels good cement; 15 yards crushed stone; 1 door frame 28x68 inches; 2 window frames 20x28 inches; 45 studs 2x4, 9 feet long; 12 joists 2x6, 14 feet long; 2 plates 2x8, 14 feet long; 2 rafter plates 2x8, 18 feet long, allowing 4 feet for spring shed; 20 rafters 2x5, 9 feet long; 360 feet sheathing for roof; 500 feet matched flooring and siding; 3,250 shingles; 1,000 plastering lath; 75 yards plaster; 1,000 square feet building paper; 300 brick for chimney; 1 door 28x68 inches; 4 window sash, 20x28 inches; 5 pounds spikes; 5 pounds lath nails; 15 pounds 8-d nails; 9 pounds shingle nails.

From this list the cost of erection in any locality can be ascertained. Care should be taken to have windows and doors fit closely, avoiding cracks. An extra "storm door" for winter use would be an added protection against freezing.

The illustration may be explained thus: D, doorway; B, sink drain; c, sink; e, milk separator, where milk and cream are drawn off into vessels and separator washed; d, refrigerator; f, basin conveying waste water from tank into sink drain; g, sink drain; w, window.—Ohio Farmer.

Intensive Dairying.

In the vicinity of great cities intensive dairying must be followed. The cows must be kept in large numbers on small areas, and the product of these cows must be disposed of at a higher price than is obtainable for butter. The location must to a considerable degree determine the phase of dairying that is to receive the most attention. Cream selling is one of these phases that is most accentuated on high priced land near cities.

Coal Ashes in the Current Bushes.

Coal ashes should always be used as a mulch or to lighten up heavy soil. When it is applied thickly between the rows of currant bushes it acts as a mulch and at the same time keeps down weeds. Capillary action does not readily take place in loose ashes, and so the soil moisture below is saved for the currant bushes.

The boar should be kept some distance from the sows. His quarters should be strong. He should have a good clover pasture.

WESTERN POLITICIAN WON.

Made the Secretary a Proposition Which Was Too Much for Him.

When Richard Olney was secretary of state he frequently gave expression to the opinion that appointees to the consular service should speak the languages of the countries to which they were respectively accredited, relates the Philadelphia Record.

It is said that when a certain breezy and enterprising western politician who was desirous of serving the Cleveland administration in the capacity of consul at one of the Chinese ports presented his papers to Mr. Olney, the secretary remarked:

"Are you aware, Mr. Blank, that I never recommend to the president the appointment of a consul unless he speaks the language of the country to which he desires to go? Now, I suppose, you do not speak Chinese?"

Whereupon the westerner grinned broadly. "If, Mr. Secretary," said he, "you will ask me a question in Chinese I shall be happy to answer it."

He got the appointment.

Arriving at a Verdict.

Kushequa, Pa., July 10.—(Special)—In this section of Pennsylvania there is a growing belief that for such Kidney Diseases as Rheumatism and Lame Back there is only one sure cure and that is Dodd's Kidney Pills. This belief grows from such cases as that of Mrs. M. L. Davison of this place. She tells the story herself as follows:—

"I have suffered from Rheumatism for thirty years and find that Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I was also bothered with Lame Back and I can only say that my back hasn't bothered me since I took Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Considering that Mrs. Davison only took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the result would be considered wonderful if it were not that others are reporting similar results daily. Kushequa is fast arriving at a verdict that "Dodd's Kidney Pills are the one sure cure for Rheumatism."

The White River Division.

St. Louis, July 8.—The White River division of the Iron Mountain Route, between Newport, Ark., and Carthage, Mo., is rapidly approaching completion, and report of representatives of the general passenger department, who recently made a complete trip over the line, indicates that through trains will be running inside of sixty days.

"While several thousand tourists have already made the trip from each end of the completed line, and we have hauled during the month of June over forty fishing parties from Carthage, who desired to make the five-day float from Galena to Branson, returning on train in 50 minutes, for the complete daylight run over the new line," said Mr. H. C. Townsend, general passenger agent, "there will be a tourist travel unprecedented over any line in this part of the country. The fishing proposition is becoming so well known that a number of club houses on the James river, between Galena and Branson, are now completed and are taxed to their capacity."

"The romantic features of the new line are naturally the ones to attract the most general attention, but the agricultural and mineral possibilities of this new region are remarkable."

"The road itself is a marvel of engineering, and the 85-pound rails, with rock ballast, promises the highest degree of speed and safety."

TORTURING, DISFIGURING

Humors, Eczemas, Itchings, Inflammations, Burnings, Scalings and Chafings Cured by Cuticura.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurements, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt by the testimony of the civilized world.

Four Facts For Sick Women To Consider

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has an Unequalled Record of Cures—Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Is Confidential, Free, and always Helpful

FIRST.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, displacements of the uterus, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, all uterine and ovarian inflammation, weakness and displacements, regulating menstruation perfectly and overcoming its pains. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life.

THIRD.—The great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

FOURTH.—Every ailing woman in the United States is asked to accept the following invitation. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women.—Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. From symptoms given, your trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of the vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Surely, any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

Secretary Root to the Mayor.

Secretary Root has at last put his opinions apon paper and upon them Mayor Weaver undoubtedly will act. The upshot of the advice is that, since District Attorney Bell has refused to make arrests upon his own responsibility, it is the privilege of the Mayor to proceed.

Of course. The advice is absolutely sound, and there is not a lawyer in Philadelphia with an experience of three days at the bar who could not have given it. It is precisely the position taken by District Attorney Bell and precisely the point made by The Inquirer.

The District Attorney, by his swift action in the election cases and in those of Messrs. Caven and Hill, has shown conclusively that it is not his intention to shield any wrong-doing, no matter by whom. He has simply tried to make it plain—and he has made it plain to every lawyer in Philadelphia—that it is not the duty of the District Attorney to indict persons previous to their arrest and a hearing in a regular way before a magistrate. He has said in language as pointed as language can be written or spoken that he will proceed against any persons duly brought before him in the regular and orderly and legal way. What is more, he has invited Judge Gordon, the representative of the Mayor, to join with him in any prosecution. Therefore, the implied doubt cast upon the District Attorney's purity of motive is entirely uncalled for.

There has never been the slightest need of any mystery, of prolonged conferences in New York, of mid-night meetings and of Waldorf dinners. The Mayor has had his experts at work. If they have discovered criminality, then the way is perfectly simple The District Attorney will prosecute after a magistrate's hearing. If there is evidence to convict a jury will vote to convict at the trial. If there is not then the cases will fail. That is all there is to it.

The trouble heretofore has been a very evident design to try the filtration business in the newspapers for political reasons. It is that design against which The Inquirer has protested. The matter is altogether too serious to be made the plaything of politicians or the football of politics, as we have frequently declared. Cut politics out and get down to facts. Quit trying to make the Republican party of Pennsylvania responsible for the filtration situation. Then the people will be able to understand and there will be a good deal less confusion.

The attack on the District Attorney was political and was intended to be such. There was no need of it whatever. The Mayor has all along had the example of Mayor Stuart as a precedent, and a great gathering of lawyers was superfluous. Mayor Stuart appointed experts to investigate the city department presided over by John Bardsley. His experts reported. Upon their report warrants were issued. After that the District Attorney stepped in. Mayor Weaver, is in an exactly similar manner, has had experts at word. All that he has had to do at any time was to follow the example set by Mayor Stuart. There was no fuss, no feathers, about the arrest of Bardsley—no politics. Quietly, purely in a business way, the warrants were issued. There was no mystery. The whole affair was conducted in a dignified manner, and it was not made the subject of newspaper fireworks.

The Bullitt bill gives a Mayor full power to conduct investigations at any time without notice and to make use of experts. He is expected to act upon the advice of his experts. To this point Secretary Root has at length brought the present investigation, and the Mayor need not have gone outside his own law firm to fix his authority and his method of procedure.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Dents Run Mill.

The DuBois Courier says: When work ceased Saturday for the week at Mr. DuBois' Hicks Run mill it was with the expectation that the new mill would be started this morning for a season's cutting. The erection of the mill has been going on since spring and it has been made a very complete plant. There is approximately two hundred million feet of lumber to cut on it, and the present plans are to cut fifteen to twenty million a year. There is probably no more complete plant, or one having the assurances of a longer run, in the state, than the Hicks Run mill.

Cultivating business is in some respects very much like cultivating flowers, says the Piladelphia Record. You cannot make a success of flower gardening if you water your plants at the beginning of the season and let them go dry all summer. You cannot make a success of business getting if your advertising ventures are so far and few between as to lose their cumulative effect. Unless you keep everlasting at it the public will have forgotten by the first of August that you existed on the first of June. When Tom or Dick or Harry discovers that he must make a purchase he goes to the merchant whose advertisement is in the paper every day rather than to him who last manifested signs of life a month ago.

Three Stories.

Here are some bits from the diary of Sir Mountstuart E. Grant Duff: "A gentleman who rather overvalued himself, looking at a case of birds, said to an ornithologist who was with him, 'What is that bird?' 'That,' said the other, 'is a magpie.' 'It's not my idea of a magpie,' was the rejoinder. 'Perhaps not,' replied his friend, 'but it's God's idea of a magpie.'"

A man named Faber lay ill. "'You are very ill indeed,' said the doctor. 'Then you had better,' the sick man rejoined, 'order the prayers for the dying to be read.' 'No,' answered the person to whom he spoke, 'I think you will live four and twenty hours.' 'Oh, in that case,' rejoined Faber, 'read me Pickwick.'"

"Things one would rather have put differently," writes the diarist. "Mr. Cecil Rhodes to his neighbor at dinner, an extremely pretty woman: He—I hate Germans. She—Well, I don't hate them, but I by no means like them. He—Oh, I thought you were a German!"

Could Not Qualify.

A well known Scotch horse couper, who was considered a respectable member of a congregation, was frequently pressed by the minister to allow himself to be nominated for the eldership. He always put the matter off with evasive answers, but at length the minister demanded the reason for his refusal. Thus driven into a corner the worthy replied: "Man, I wonder to hear you, Mr. McNab! Hoo can a man be an elder and sell a horse?"—Scottish American.

Not Mere Curiosity.

The world has a store of pleasures in waiting for the unaccustomed traveler. Sometimes, indeed, they may be mostly in anticipation, as was the case with Amos Riggs of Plumtown.

"How d'ye do?" said Mr. Riggs cordially to the stern visaged man who was his seat mate in the car on the occasion of Mr. Riggs' first trip to Boston. "Now what might your name be? Do you live in Nashuy or beyond?"

"I should like to know what business it is of yours where I live or who I am?" said his companion crossly.

"Well, now, it ain't any partic'lar business o' mine, strictly speaking," said Mr. Riggs mildly, "but it's jest like this: I've got a cousin up in Canady that I've never seen, and I've always thought I might come upon him some time jest by asking folks their name and so on."

Tides and Storms.

When a tempest is approaching or passing out on the ocean, the tides are noticeably higher than usual, as if the water had been driven in a vast wave before the storm. The influence extends to a great distance from the cyclonic storm center, so that the possibility exists of foretelling the approach of a dangerous hurricane by means of indications furnished by tide gauges situated far away from the place then occupied by the whirling winds. The fact that the tidal wave outstrips the advancing storm shows how extremely sensitive the surface of the sea is to the changes of pressure brought to bear upon it by the never resting atmosphere.

Green.

Owing to its derivation the word "green" was originally applied to the color of vegetation, but not to the color of the sea. No application of "green" to the color of the sea is quoted before Chaucer, but as early as the year 700 it was used for vegetation. The word is akin to "grass" and "grow," which verb originally belonged to the vegetable world alone. Vegetables "grew," but animals "waxed." "Green" comes from an Aryan root, "ghahr," meaning to be green or yellow, and "yellow," "gold" and "yolk" come from that same root.

Tapioca and Pearl Tapioca.

Tapioca is manufactured from the plant called in Brazil manioc, in Peru yucca and in the West Indies cassava. When the true starch is separated from the root it is placed on hot plates and while it is heating is stirred with an iron rod. The starch grains burst, and the whole agglomerates into small, irregular masses. Pearl tapioca is not a product of the plant at all, but of potato starch.

American, All Right.

A countryman registered at a hotel in Kansas City the other day. He did not explain on what "plan" he purposed to become a guest.

"European or American?" asked the clerk.

The guest looked surprised. "American," he said emphatically. "Born and raised up here in Platte county. I don't look like no foreigner, do I?"

A Different Meaning.

Beaks—What brought on old Wilkin's paralytic stroke? Peaks—I didn't know he was afflicted with one. Beaks—But you just told me he was paralyzed. Peaks—Quite true; but I didn't say he was suffering from a paralytic stroke.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Doomed.

"He'll never reach the top in his profession."

"Why, he believes he's there now."

"That's the very reason that he'll never get there."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A good action is never lost. It is a treasure laid up and guarded for the doer's need.—Calderon.

Song—Entitled, "My Mountain Home."

Ive a charming rustic cabin in the mountains,
Where my little family lives from day to day,
Where the winds they gently fan the emerald, verdure
Of the trees and flowers blooming by the way,
I am not blessed with bags of gold and silver,
Or have I servants upon whom to call,
But two treasures that we have will far exceed them,
Love and good health surely are the best of all

And when my daily tasks have been completed,
And with quickened footsteps homeward I do go
There my wife and children then do fondly greet me,
As my mother did in childhood longlago,
Oh, my little home is ever bright and cheerful,
"The simple life" it is the poor man's joy,
No business cares and troubles to perplex me,
Or no train of liveried servants to annoy.

As a poor man now I've told my little story,
Of my mountain home and little family too,
I dare say there's many poor men in this wide world
Who will say that I have spoken very true,
And when our span of life on earth is ended,
And the angel becons with his hand to come,
May our blessed Saviour guide us through the valley,
To eternal joy up in His heavenly home.

REMEDY FOR HAY FEVER.

After Trying Other Treatments, Hyomei Was Used With Perfect Success.

Before the discovery of Hyomei the only advice a physician could give his hay fever patients, was to go away from home, but now anyone who is subject to this disease can, if used, stay at home without fear of the annual attack of sneezing, watery eyes, and other discomforts.

J. F. Forbes, a well known Western railroad man, whose home is at McCook, Nebraska, writes "I have never had any relief from hay fever, even temporarily, until I discovered the merits of Hyomei. I always recommend it when occasion requires."

There is no offensive or dangerous stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. This reliable remedy for the cure of all diseases of the respiratory organs is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that the air taken into the throat and lungs is like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts, where hay fever is unknown.

The fact that L. Taggart agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei without success, should inspire confidence in its power to effect a cure. A complete outfit costs only $1.00 and extra bottles but 50 cents.

Many a homely seed holds a heavenly blossom.

The Diamond Cure.

The latest news from Paris, is, that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you feal consumption or pneumonia, it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee, of Vanleer, Tenn. "I had a cough, for fourteen years. Nothing helped me, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief, and effected a permanent cure." Unequalled quick cure, for Throat and Lung Troubles. At L. Taggart's drug store; price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottles free.

You would better damn a man than despair of him.

The Only Way to Cure.

To cure a cold when you have no cough—to cure a cough when you have no cold—to cure yourself when you have both—take Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. The new idea, the original Laxative Cough Syrup. It contains no opiates and is best for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. Pleasant to the taste and equally good for child or adult. Remember the name "Kennedy's" and see that the red clover blossom and the honey bee is on the bottle. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar is the original Laxative Cough Syrup. Take no other. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Result of a Railroad Accident.

Wm. L. Maynard, of Centreville, Pa., for 20 years suffered a great deal of pain in the side and over the hips, caused by being crushed between the cars. After doing a little work he would always pass gravel. Five years ago he used three bottles of Thompson's Barosma Kidney and Liver Cure and was completely cured, having no return of the disease since. Thompson's Barosma 50c and $1.00. For sale by R. C. A pleasant surprise party may be given to your stomach and liver, by taking a medicine which will relieve their pain and discomfort, viz: Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are a most wonderful remedy, affording sure relief and cure, for headache, dizziness and constipation. 25c at L. Taggart's drug store.

The Most Fatal Disease.

Diseases of the kidneys cause more deaths than any other one class of diseases. Most people who have kidney disease do not know they have it. The first symptons are either not noticed or mistaken for something else. This is why insurance companies always require a strict analysis of urine before granting insurance. Thompson's Barosma will at once relieve any conjestion or inflamation of the kidneys and has made remarkable cures in Bright's disease, sciatca and all diseases of the kidneys and liver. Pleasant to take. Thompson's Barosma 50c and $1.00 at R. C. Dodson's.

No creed that is shorter than life is long enoogh.

How to Retain Youth.

Middle aged and aged people can retain their youthfulness by keeping certain organs in a healthy condition. In a man the liver and kidneys will cause him to look, feel and act careworn. In a women the liver and organs peculiar to her sex will give her a careworm, sallow, wrinkles look and dragged out feelings. All this can be avoided by Thompson's Barosma. It builds up and strengthens all those functions giving renewed youth. Thompson's Barosma retains youth. R. C. Dodson's 50c and $1.00.

Who use molasses demand the best syrup obtainable. Treacle is not molasses although there's much treacle sailing under false colors. The difference between treacle and molasses lies in the fact that treacle comes from sugar in the process of making, while molasses is obtained in the process of refining. You can not get good out of bad, but you can get the best from the best which comes from the sugar.

DANGEROUS GERMS IN SUMMER.

Strengthen the Stomach With Mi-o-na and Keep Well.

A wealthy philanthropist in New York spends thousands of dollars every summer providing milk for the babies, with the result that the mortality is greatly decreased. He appreciates the fact that disease germs are common in the summer and that the stomach must be kept healthy to resist their attacks.

Older people do not live on a milk diet to insure health, but they can so strengthen the stomach and digestive organs by the use of Mi-o-na that they too, will be free from sickness in the summer season.

Take a Mi-o-na tablet before each meal, and it will soothe and heal any inflammation that may be present in the lining of the stomach, give tone and strength to the whole digestive system, and aid you in naturally and easily digesting the food. It is the only remedy known that cures indigestion and stomach troubles by strengthening the digestive system. It is guaranteed to make a complete and permanent cure in all diseases of the stomach excepting cancer.

Mi-o-na restores complete health to the whole system and cures headaches, backache, sleeplessness, pains and distress after eating, vertigo, heart burn, and the general debility which result from a weak stomach and imperfect digestion.

A guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na does not show help, is given with every 50 cent box. Ask L. Taggart to show you the guarantee.

The pills that act as a tonic, and not as a drastic purge, are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cure Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, etc. Early Risers are small, easy to act—a safe pill. Mack Hamilton, hotel clerk at Valley City, N. D., says: "Two bottles of these Famous Little Pills cured me of chronic constipation. Good for either children or adults. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

THE MOUNTAINS.

Towering high above the treetops,
All their gray lone summits rise,
Till the heights in mighty beauty
Seem to touch the bending skies.

Fair the morning's golden sunlight
On their peaks in splendor lies,
And the glory of the sunset
Lingering there in grandeur dies.

Winter's silvery snowflakes resting
On their heads a crown descend,
And the lonely eagles nesting
Find their heights a sheltering friend.

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON

It must needs be business of great import that would take a human being out in such a storm. Whatever his object, the man's purpose never for a moment wavered as he fought against the sweep of the drenching blast that he encountered while crossing the Pont Notre Dame. Turning and walking along the river bank for a short distance, he finally entered a small and obscure cross-street. He proceeded along this, until he was directly in front of a dilapidated building situated in the rear of the Hotel de Ville. Here he stopped and gave a peculiar whistle, which could not have been heard for more than 20 paces, because of the uproar of the storm. A dark figure, securely muffled like his own, appeared at his side, as suddenly and mysteriously as though he had come up through the earth. A sign was given and returned, and the heads of the two men approached each other, while their lips moved in some mysterious interchange of words.

All seemed well, for the first conspirator turned, and, opening a narrow door with a small key, disappeared, followed by the other. They felt their way along a pitch dark passage. Again a key was used, and a word of caution heard from the leader as they descended a flight of stairs into a subterranean way. This was soon traversed, and a door was reached, through whose cracks and keyhole a light appeared. This opened into a room built entirely underground and lighted by a large lamp. A table occupied the center of the floor, and several chairs were scattered about. A large brazier of lighted charcoal warmed the air and dissipated the moisture of the place. An opening in the roof leading to the outside world somewhere gave sufficient ventilation.

The door being closed, the leader threw off his cloak and muffler and advanced to the brazier, spreading his hands above the glowing coals with a slight shiver. At length he turned and showed by the lamplight the form and features of Jean Baptiste Colbert, minister of finance, the most powerful as well as the most energetic of the king's servants: of middle stature, rather lean than fat; black hair, so thin that he always wore a cap; of low and dejected mien, gloomy air, and stern aspect; eyes usually half closed, giving him the appearance of great craftiness; his outward behavior modest and accompanied by much seeming plainness and simplicity; sober, sleeping little, always alert; hard and inflexible of temper, beholding without concern the misery of an infinite number whom he had ruined to enrich his master's treasury, and hence advance his own interests. Nicknamed "The Man of Marble," he sacrificed honor, integrity, gratitude, and everything else for the benefit of his ambition.

His companion also removed the covering about his face and neck. His dress was that of a man of the lower classes, his face pale, sharply cut and ascetic. His manner toward his companion was that of an inferior in the presence of his superior in authority. Colbert spoke first.

"A terrible night," he said with another shiver that convulsed his entire frame, and caused him to seek again the grateful glow of the coals.

"Truly, a fearful storm," replied the other. "But it is necessary for members of our order to be about the order's business ad majorem Dei gloriam in spite of the raging of the elements."

Colbert sat down in one of the chairs near the table, motioned to his companion to approach and dry himself, and after seizing a quill and drawing near his elbow the ink-horn and parchment that lay there ready for use, he commanded the other to relate his story.

"I left Quebec," began the messenger, for he was none other, "in November and reached La Rochelle in January last. The day after landing I was seized with a terrible fever, contracted on board ship. When I recovered I found that two months had elapsed. I bore with me a message from the bishop of Quebec, who, although not a member of our order, is very friendly to it. I was instructed to deliver it to you in person and to avoid all help from the members of our order in France, so that none would know that the Jesuits in Quebec were communicating with you. I started from La Rochelle penniless and alone. Deprived of the support of my order, I was obliged to beg my way. The fever left me with a running sore upon my leg. By exhibiting this to the passers-by, I was enabled to get the money to live on. A relapse confined me to bed for another month, when I had arrived within ten leagues of Paris. I sent you word requesting an interview; you appointed the time and place, and here I am."

During this recital, Colbert had watched the features of the speaker with a keen gaze, and now and then made a note of place and circumstance upon the parchment for future corroboration. When he had finished, he said coldly:

"You have done well. Where is the message?"

The man in reply bent down and began unwinding a heavy bandage from about his leg. The end reached, a huge open sore was disclosed below the knee. Inserting his little finger within the sore and pressing from the outside with his other hand, a small piece of lead the shape and size of a bullet was squeezed out from the wound.

"A safe hiding-place," he remarked, as he carefully wiped it; "besides, it served to keep the wound open and running."

Bringing the piece of lead to the light, he pulled the ends apart, which revealed a cavity neatly hollowed out. Within this hole was a piece of very thin oiled silk rolled up into as compact a mass as possible.

Colbert opened it and spread it out. There was nothing visible on it, but he opened a drawer in the table, and, taking out a small flask of liquid, touched the surface of the silk lightly with a drop. Instantly a written word appeared distinctly and then faded away slowly. He seemed to be satisfied at this, so laying the message upon the table, he arose, and turning to the man asked if he were dry. His companion understood that he was dismissed, so, after bandaging up his leg and muffling his face, he moved toward the door, accompanied by Colbert, who followed him, opening the successive doors until he reached the street.

When he returned, he reseated himself, and, taking up the bit of silk, began the task of finding out what it contained. As he applied a drop of the secret fluid to each word he quickly wrote it down on parchment before it faded. Word by word he revealed the message until the end. Then putting the original away in a secret place, he took up the copy and read as follows:

"The chiefest among my friends here have urged me to write this letter to you, promising that a trusty messenger shall deliver it into your hands. They beg me to implore you to use your great power to retard and hinder the plans of the Sieur de la Salle, who is now in France. His projects of colonization and exploration are in direct rivalry to the work of the missionaries, while the extension of his fur-trade with the savages takes them out of the power and influence of the church. The fathers desire to keep the fur-trade to themselves, and feel that he can do them great injury.

"LAVAL,
"Bishop of Quebec."

In nearly every land of the then known world, in every court and palace, there were stationed secret emissaries of the great Society of Jesus. The minister of many a king, even the servants of the bed-chamber, the cloth-merchant, the innkeeper, the horseshoer, the slavey in the kitchen—all were enrolled among the faithful adherents of this mighty order, forming one of its important sub-divisions.

Colbert was one of these. To render strict obedience he should have placed the welfare of the order above every other consideration. But as has been indicated, the one great impulse of the man's life was ambition, that could use everything for an aid, but would allow nothing to overshadow it. The Jesuits were a terrible enemy, and a most valuable ally; hence he chose them as the latter, doing what he could to further their plans and win their esteem, so long as it did not interfere with his own projects. A serious clash of the two interests had never arisen before. But now the issue must be met, for chief among his plans for the glory of France and of her king (and hence indirectly for his own aggrandizement) was the development and exploration of the western wilds of New France. Already were the Dutch and English and Spaniards pressing forward with men and gold, hurrying forth exploring expeditions led by men of courage and resource. He well knew that whichever nation first explored the unknown region adjoining the present holding of France in the New World; he who planted trading-posts and gained the aid and friendship of the savage tribes for his king and country, would win a continent.

The dazzling stories of wealth untold to be found in those regions stirred his blood, for he realized that if he could but guide and direct the king in the affairs of colonization to the grand realization of his dream, he would have but to ask, to receive his heart's fondest desire from the hands of a grateful monarch. Upon this pinnacle of power thus gained, the world would forget the wine merchant's son of Rheims in envious adulation. The reins thus placed within his hands, he would be enabled to drive rough-shod over his enemies, crushing them beyond recovery. He would be greater even than the king himself, because he would have acquired such unlimited influence over the royal mind and favor that it would be he who would stand within the shadow of the throne, directing wars, dictating peace, uprooting nations, and dethroning kings. To gain this end, he had need of just such men as he knew La Salle to be. It would be he that would reap the benefits of the explorer's efforts if successful; and upon the head of that intrepid man alone would the results of failure fall.

Thus lost in the imaginings of future greatness, he sat until the dimming of the light warned him of the passage of time. He started up and, quickly secreting whatever papers he had in a hiding-place in the wall, he extinguished the lamp and left the room.

When he reached the street he found day already dawned. The rain had ceased, although it was still gloomy. The working people were moving about already to begin anew the toil of the day. Colbert, well disguised, walked rapidly along, his mind busy devising some plan whereby his taskmasters could be satisfied without injuring his own future purposes. Once he came into sudden collision with a huge fish-wife while turning a corner, who straightway launched at him her choicest stock of Parisian billingsgate, little dreaming that he whom she thus reviled was the second man in the kingdom.

CHAPTER VII.

CONTAINING SCENES CHIEFLY FEMININE THAT TEND TO PROVE THAT PITY IS AKIN TO LOVE.

If the storm brought broken chimney-pots and puddly streets to the city of Paris, it bore renewed brightness to the flowers and a fresher green to the early summer verdure of the country outside; and to no spot did it bring newer life and greater gladness to flower and shrub than to Choisy Mademoiselle.

This princely estate lay about 2½ leagues from Paris on the road to Orleans. The broad Seine flowing past the lowermost of its terraces, the hundred-acre park about the house (a fair expanse of green turf broken here and there by the varied trees and bushes set out by the most famous landscape gardener of the age), the woods on either side trimmed into an exact resemblance of each other, made it seem a veritable glimpse of paradise to the dust-laden traveler as he urged on his tired horse toward the city.

This was the favorite summer home of Louise de Montpensier, "Madamoiselle" (or "La Grande Mademoiselle" as she loved to be called), only daughter of Gaston, Duc d'Orleans, the king's uncle; of her who was the greatest heiress in all Europe; who in her early youth had determined to be queen of France, and had endeavored to win her kingly cousin into a closer relationship; who on the destruction of this dream turned her attention to the emperor of Germany; who, at the time of the Fronde, had entered Paris, assumed command, and even turned the guns of the Bastille upon the royal army; who in her day, had repulsed the wooing of Charles II. of England (then in exile) and voted him a bore; and who ultimately, after refusing an emperor, three reigning monarchs, Phillip of France (the brother of Louis), and half a dozen sovereign princes, married a rascally adventurer who forced her to pick up his hat and pull off his muddy riding boots, to show his contempt for her.

It was to this shady, restful home that she retired when the heat of summer came, to train her hounds, try her English horses, tend her aviaries, row on the river, or watch her flowers. Her other castles and estates stood high as Choisy. So well known was her desire for quiet when she retired there that not even the king himself would have ventured to intrude without a cousinly invitation. Hither came by special favor a few choice spirits, Corneille or Racine to read a new play; Mansard to show her the plans for a new palace he was building for the king (Mademoiselle affected to patronize the arts); or perhaps a bevy of feminine friends brimming over with gossip of the court.

Mademoiselle was by nature a bundle of contradictions. Understanding politics, she had small capacity for ruling; ostentatious in the distribution of her wealth without being charitable; shrewd in judgment, yet so blinded by conceit that all the world looked on and laughed at her folly; of warlike disposition (a hundred times more a leader or a general than her father), yet with a woman's heart, and in her better, softer moments displaying a gentleness truly feminine.

Fairly good-looking she was, despite the long Bourbon nose; tall, shapely, with really beautiful hair; eyes blue, mouth firm, and a finely moulded shoulder. She had withal an air of command that bespoke royal blood. She was of the court, courtly; unbending only at times and allowing familiarity in none, save her lady-in-waiting, or companion as she chose to call her.

It was on this afternoon, when the whole earth was brighter for its plunge-bath of the night before, that a coach of state with outriders turned in from the road and stopped at the main entrance of the house. The footmen descended, the door was opened, and "La Grande Mademoiselle" stepped forth in all the stateliness a queen could show. With this regal air she entered the long gallery, whose satin-covered walls were decorated with portraits of her famous and illustrious ancestors. Passing its length, she entered a small writing-room, beyond which was the door leading to her own private apartments. Opening this noiselessly, she stopped and gazed long and earnestly at some object within. Gradually her expression changed. Her queenliness was gone, gone her majesty, and the womanliness which overcame but seldom her proud imperious nature clothed her as with a different garment.

The only occupant of the room was a young girl, barely 19, who reclined in an easy-chair near the open window. She was clothed in a white gown of thin silk, with gold stars and leaves in Persian stitch scattered over it; a pale pink sash was tied in a large knot below her bosom. She was tall and slender, with that grace of repose and freedom of action that is only gained by healthful country life. Her hair, light brown and fine of texture, rippled about her temples in a variety of natural waves, falling over her shoulders in long ringlets; eyes that showed a brown deeper than that of her hair; soft lashes that partly veiled, partly displayed the glance within; lips thin, playfully curved, yet expressing moral firmness which could pout or pray as her emotion demanded—a natural beauty, unmarred by folly or the decrees of fashion. She was the embodiment of youthful vigor; vigor of body and health of mind. The soft glow in her cheek and the calm earnest look in her eye, a look that knew not evil, neither searched for it in others, both showed that she was not of the court or city.

This was mademoiselle's constant companion, Renee d'Outrelaise, only daughter of a noble of Poitou, long of lineage, but poor in purse. The ambition of her mother for her daughter's advancement had led her, much against the old comte's wishes, to send her to Paris to an influential friend, in order that she might become attached as lady-in-waiting to one of the royal household. Mademoiselle had seen her soon after her arrival and had taken her as her personal attendant.

Struck by the nobility of thought and character soon displayed by her protege, she chose to keep her altogether from the noxious vapors of court life and allow the budding flower to develop uncontaminated within the bounds of her own presence. Her especial fear was that her royal cousin, the king, becoming enamored of the freshness of her beauty, should seek to pluck this blossom for his own refreshment as he had so often done before. Hence it was that Renee followed her patroness from castle to castle as she in turn visited her different estates or accompanied her to Paris, where, lodged in mademoiselle's city house, the palace of the Luxembourg, she remained hidden from all masculine eyes, save those alone whom mademoiselle deemed it prudent to admit.

Complimentary Contradiction.

A New York publisher has a reputation for employing the homeliest stenographers and typewriters in the city. Efficiency rather than beauty is what he wants, and he knows the prettiest ones are not the most efficient. Just the same it is said of him that he doesn't know a pretty woman when he sees one. Still his wife is an unusually handsome woman.

Not long ago she came into the office, where she appears only at rare intervals, and only when it is absolutely necessary. She was met by an office boy, a bright Irish lad, who had never seen her. She asked for Mr. Blank.

"Who shall I say wants to see him, mem?" he inquired.

"His wife," she replied.

He looked at her in open-eyed surprise and genuine admiration.

"Sure, mem, I'll tell him," he said, starting off, "and bad cess to thim that says he has no taste in ladies, mem."—N. Y. Times.

During the last Congressional campaign the candidates for the honor of representing a certain East Tennessee district gathered to meet the voters at a country court-house. There was a rough-looking old mountaineer in the audience. He looked over the aspirants on the platform with a critical eye. One of them had done him several favors, and he felt in duty bound to vote for him. "Not a very promising lot, are they?" he remarked in an audible whisper to a man three seats away. Them's only the kind we used to run for constable when I was a boy. Thar's my candidate—that yaller-headed chap, third from this eend. I've got to vote for him, but I'd give ten dollars if I hadn't seen him first."—Washington Post.

The Minister and the Widow.

The Rev. Samuel Robbins, a brother of the late Rev. Chandler Robbins, of Boston, was noted for his wit. One of his best retorts was made in Framingham Center, where 40 years ago he was pastor of the Unitarian church.

He had heard that a young widow in his congregation was intending again to enter the matrimonial state, and as he knew her very well he broached the subject to her.

"Yes," she replied, "I feel that my little son Edward needs a father's care."

"Oho!" exclaimed Mr. Robbins, "so you're going to get married to 'raise Ned!'"—Boston Herald.

An Explanation.

Sir Robert Ball, the noted British astronomer, went to a remote town in Ireland to lecture on his favorite topic. Arriving at the station he looked for the expected conveyance, but found none. After all the other passengers had disappeared a man stepped up and said: "Maybe you're Sir Robert Ball?" After receiving an affirmative reply, the man hastily apologized, saying: "Sure, your honor, I'm sorry I kept you waiting, but I was told to look for an intellectual gentleman."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MARKETING POTATO CROPS.

How the Railroads Made It Possible for the Growers to Get Fair Prices.

In line with the classic case of the oyster shippers, cited by President Hadley, of Yale University, in his book on Railroad Transportation, is the case of the Aroostook potato growers brought by President Tuttle, of the Boston and Maine Railroad before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce. Nothing could better show how a railroad works for the interest of the localities which it serves.

A main dependence of the farmers of the Aroostook region is the potato crop, aggregating annually eight to ten million bushels which find a market largely in Boston and the adjacent thickly settled regions of New England. The competition of cheap water transportation from Maine to all points along the New England coast keeps railroad freight rates on these potatoes always at a very low level.

Potatoes are also a considerable output of the truck farms of Michigan, their normal market being obtained in and through Detroit and Chicago and other communities of that region.

Not many years ago favoring sun and rains brought a tremendous yield of potatoes from the Michigan fields. At normal rates and prices there would have been a glut of the customary markets and the potatoes would have rotted on the farms. To help the potato growers, the railroads from Michigan made unprecedentedly low rates on potatoes to every reachable market, even carrying them in large quantities to a place so remote as Boston. The Aroostook growers had to reduce the price on their potatoes, and even then could not dispose of them unless the Boston and Maine railroad reduced its already low rate, which it did. By means of these low rates, making possible low prices, the potato crops of both Michigan and Maine were finally marketed. Everybody eats potatoes, and that year everybody had all the potatoes he wanted.

While the Michigan railroads made rates that would have been ruinous to the railroads, had they been applied to the movement of all potatoes at all times, to all places, they helped their patrons to find markets then. The Boston and Maine Railroad suffered a decrease in its revenue from potatoes, but it enabled the Aroostook farmers to market their crop and thereby to obtain money which they spent for the varied supplies which the railroads brought to them. If the making of rates were subject to Governmental adjustment, such radical and prompt action could never have been taken, because it is well established that if a rate be once reduced by a railroad company, it cannot be restored through the red tape of Governmental procedure. If the Michigan railroads and the Boston and Maine Railroad had been subjected to Governmental limitation they would have felt obliged to keep up their rates, as do the railroads of France and England and Germany under Governmental limitation, and let the potatoes rot.—Exchange.

KAISER A POOR MAN.

HAS DIFFICULTY IN MEETING EXPENSES DESPITE INCOME.

German Emperor Receives $5,000,000 Annually—Spends Little for Clothing and Luxuries—Where Money Goes.

London.—The German emperor, with an annual income of approximately £1,000,000, is a poor man, and has great difficulty in making both ends meet. He does not receive a farthing in his capacity as German emperor, but fulfills the duties of his honorary position free of charge to the federation of German states. The kaiser draws his income, first, as king of Prussia, and, second, as a private landowner.

His income as king of Prussia amounts approximately to £800,000 per annum. The emperor of Russia receives an annual allowance of approximately £1,000,000, and the emperor of Austria an annual allowance of more than £800,000. Both these monarchs receive additional allowances for certain definite purposes, and both of them own vast landed estates far superior in acreage to the German emperor's possessions.

The sultan of Turkey receives an annual allowance of £2,000,000, and the king of Italy draws over £600,000 per annum, while the incomes of several monarchs of smaller states are nearly as large as that of the king of Prussia.

The amount of £800,000 granted annually to the German emperor in his capacity of king of Prussia is not taken from the national exchequer, but from revenues from state dominions which were formerly the private property of the Prussian royal house. The crown lands were handed over to the state, and in return the state pays a fixed annual income to the monarch.

The kaiser owns 83 landed estates, comprising a total of 250,000 acres. He is the greatest land owner in Germany.

The kaiser's workmen are paid abnormally high wages, and all his employes receive liberal pensions in their old age or in case of sickness. He also provides liberally for their widows and children out of his private purse. All these payments consume a large proportion of the profits, so that the emperor's income from his estates is comparatively small.

EMPEROR WILLIAM.
(This Ruler Finds It Hard to Make Ends Meet with Income of $5,000,000.)

Practically speaking, the German emperor is thus obliged to live on his royal income of £800,000 per annum, which is altogether insufficient for his requirements. The kaiser has no personal extravagances, but lives a simple and strenuous life of hard work and little luxury. He spends little money on his table, for the cuisine of the German imperial residence is notorious for its inferiority.

The kaiser is not a dandy, and spends a comparatively small amount every year on his clothes. The horses he rides are not particularly good breed, and not unusually expensive. He is not a gambler, and does not indulge in other dissipations which would be excusable in his position.

He is, however, extravagant in one respect, namely, in keeping up the imperial magnificence of his court on a scale never previously attempted by a king of Prussia. The support of relatives forms a first charge on the kaiser's income. He has to provide an annual income for his six sons, and has to maintain a separate court for several more distant relatives.

The kaiser travels in the same splendor in which he lives at home. Wherever he goes he is accompanied by a large suite of officers and gentlemen and of household and court officials.

During his recent Mediterranean trip the kaiser gave away 80 diamond rings, 150 diamond pins, 33 necklaces, 30 golden watches, 100 golden cigarette cases, and 20 other articles of jewelry to various persons from whom he received attention in the course of his journey. The whole Mediterranean trip is estimated to have cost £60,000. The cost of the kaiser's journey to Palestine six years ago exceeded £100,000.

Apart from his expenditure for purposes of royal display, the kaiser devotes a large sum every year to the encouragement of art and of the drama. He is continually ordering monuments to be erected at his own expense, and buys pictures for presentation to public galleries.

The kaiser maintains the Royal opera house, the Royal theater in Berlin, and the Royal theater at Weisbaden at his own expense. All three theaters are conducted only partially as profit making concerns.

With all these financial burdens the kaiser is unable to make both ends meet on his income, and has been obliged to borrow money from some of his wealthy subjects. The kaiser has never borrowed money from Prussian noblemen, but only from great commercial magnates and millionaire manufacturers.

OLD ENGLISH CLOCK.

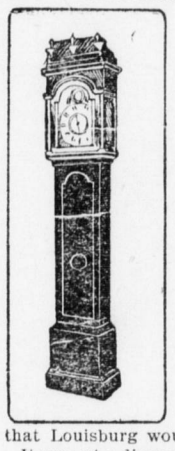
Timepiece in York, Me., That Has Served Nine Generations of One Family.

York, Me.—On the height of land in this city overlooking the bay, and from which the warning lights of Boon island, the Knuble isles of Shoals and Cape Porpoise may be seen, stands the residence of Hon. Edward C. Moody, built more than 150 years ago.

In the apartment used as library and reading-room (once as the workshop where sleds, yokes and shoes were made and mended) stands an old English clock, which has correctly marked the flight of time for at least nine generations of Moodys.

The writer is aware of but one like it in New England, that being in the Gov. Pickering mansion at Salem.

The old clock was in 1745 the property of Rev. Samuel Moody (Fr. Moody), pastor of the First Church of Christ in York, and chaplain of the expedition to Cape Breton, under Sir William Pepperell.



"Father" Moody was strongly urged by his friends not to accept Sir William's tender of the chaplainship, but he said: "No, there never was a bullet made to hurt me," and though 70 years old, he entered on the enterprise with great zeal, and predicted that Louisburg would be taken.

It was at a dinner after the surrender and in commemoration of that event that Mr. Moody uttered that remarkable blessing which was at once concise and to the admiration as well as disappointment of all present. Sir William Pepperell and others, knowing his usual prolixity on such occasions, were fearful the dinner might get cold; yet knowing his arbitrary and independent disposition, no one would take the liberty to suggest to him that brevity in his address to the Throne of Grace was desirable. All unconscious of their feeling, Mr. Moody approached the table, and, lifting up his hands, expressed himself thus:

"O, Lord, we have so many things to thank Thee for that time will be infinitely too short to do it. We must, therefore, leave it for the works of eternity. Bless our food and fellowship on this joyful occasion, for Christ's sake. Amen."

The old minister returned to York in good health and resumed his labors with his people. Two years later he died in great distress of body, lying in the arms of his son. His remains lie buried in the old cemetery near the meeting house in York village.

PREMIER OF NORWAY.

Peter C. H. K. Michelsen Popular with the People—Strong Advocate of Separate Consular System.

Christiania, Norway.—Peter Christian H. K. Michelsen, premier and head of the council of state to which the government of Norway was intrusted by the storthing when that body cut loose from Sweden, was born in Bergen, March 15, 1857, studied law and practiced his profession in his native city until 1885, when he became a ship builder.

In 1891 he was selected to the storthing, and in 1898 he was president of the exposition in Bergen. In the fall of 1903 he became a member of the Hagerup-Ibsen cabinet as a councilor of state in Stockholm, and later was minister of finance. In March last he was chosen head of the new cabinet.

He has been one of the foremost of Norway's champions in the struggle for a separate consular system.

The ministers who are associates of Michelsen in the council of state are: M. Jorgen Looland, president of the adelsthing; M. Christian Knudsen, who was originally a divinity student; M. Sofus Arctander, a well-known lawyer; M. Gunnar Knudsen, an engineer, and an authority on industrial and agricultural questions; Gen. Olsson, who has twice before served as minister of war; M. Kristofer Lehmkuhl, a fellow townsman of the premier; M. Aasward Binje, the leader of the moderates; M. Edvard Bull, a well-known lawyer and financier, and M. Harold Bothner, who is also a lawyer and one of the leaders of the left.

ATAXIA FOUR YEARS

FOLLOWS MALARIA CONTRACTED IN SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR.

Victim Had Become Helpless When He Tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but Was Cured in Four Months.

Because he did not know that there is a remedy for ataxia, Mr. Ariel endured four years of weakness, pain and the misery of thinking his case incurable.

"At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war," he says, "I went with Company B, Eighth Regiment, M.V.M., into camp at Chickamauga, and while there my system became thoroughly poisoned with malaria. When I was mustered out, I carried that disease home with me. After a while locomotor ataxia appeared."

"How did the ataxia begin?"

"I first noticed a pain in my ankles and knee joints. This was followed by a numb feeling in my legs. At times I had to drag myself around; my legs would shake or become perfectly dead. I had constant trouble in getting about in the dark. I kept a light burning in my room at night as I could not balance myself in the darkness. Even with the aid of a light I wobbled, and would reach out and catch hold of chairs to prevent myself from falling?"

"How long were you a sufferer?"

"Four years in all. During the last three years I was confined to bed, sometimes for a week, again for three or four weeks at a time. When I was lying down the pain in my back was frequently so severe that I had to be helped up and put in a chair to get a little relief. I had considerable pain in my bowels and no control over my kidneys. The worst of all was that the doctor could give me no hope of recovery."

"How were you cured?"

"I read that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured locomotor ataxia and one or two friends spoke to me about them. In the fall of 1903 I began to take them for myself and I had not used more than one box before I found that the pains in my knees and ankles were greatly relieved. Four months afterward I became a perfectly well man, and I am today enjoying the best of health."

Mr. Edward H. Ariel lives at No. 43 Powow street, Amesbury, Mass. Every sufferer from locomotor ataxia should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills without delay. Any druggist can supply them.
